

F-TEC Green

F-TEC Skill Development carried out the exercise of Water Conservation Awareness in Kalkaji on Sunday 12th of July under the F-TEC Green banner. The event started at 6 a.m. from the Kalkaji Training Centre. The awareness program was a joint program which constituted students of the F-TEC Kalkaji centre who volunteered for the program & Volunteers from the Foresight Society.

Students with full enthusiasm interacted with residents of the localities of Kalkaji & Govindpuri. Pamphlets were distributed amongst the households to make them aware of the water problem and ways in which they could cut down on the private household consumption of water by small precautionary measures. The exercise was also carried out in the adjoining Community parks in the area where the message to save water was conveyed to a large audience who had come for morning walk to the park.

The event attracted a lot of attention amongst the households of Kalkaji since the residents were happy that such important social initiatives are being taken up by Institutions like F-TEC Skill Development. Some interactions at community parks also turned into an advocacy where people started talking about the government taking initiatives like making Rain-Water harvesting mandatory in new constructions, Installation of water alarms in the water tanks to save wastage of over flowing water etc. The enthusiasm and joy of selfless work amongst the F-TEC's students as community advisor made this event a grand success.

The program is the part of Foresight Initiative through its Authorized Training Centres of F-TEC Skill Development throughout Northern India under the banner F-TEC Green.
